

ALOHA JOINERY

SLEEK AND CHIC

SEAMLESS STYLE

The featured project was designed by Paul Seeley from Aloha Joinery in conjunction with the homeowners. Sleek lines and high-end materials allow this kitchen to stand out from the crowd.

The homeowners desired an open-plan kitchen with coordinated joinery to flow seamlessly through to the entertainment area. A large breakfast bar featuring a 40mm white Caesarstone benchtop is the focal point of the kitchen.

Doors, drawer fronts, and panels in two-pack 'Ultra White' have been incorporated, while Hettich stainless steel bar handles tie in with the understated sophistication of the kitchen.

Aloha Joinery has designed the kitchen with the hot water unit located close to the sink for efficient hot water distribution. Other features of the kitchen include dual ovens and a hot, cold, and carbonated water Zip unit.

Specialising in custom-made kitchen and cabinetry solutions, Aloha Joinery is an innovative company whose designs are both functional and modern. Clients work with the same person throughout the process, from demolition to design to installation, which simplifies and streamlines the building experience.

Located on the Mornington Peninsula and completing between 40 and 50 kitchens each year in addition to commercial fit-outs, Aloha Joinery also services Melbourne suburbs. The company organises all aspects of each project, including sourcing professional tradespeople to connect plumbing and electrical services, which provides ultimate ease and peace of mind for clients.

Aloha Joinery is operated and directed by Paul Seeley, who is a qualified cabinetmaker with more than 20 years of experience in the design and installation of kitchens and joinery. Paul has worked on high-end shop fit-outs for some of the biggest chain stores throughout Australia and can bring stylish, contemporary design to your home or office.
